The best thing about advice is that you don't have to take it.

A grinch is a dyspeptic who is too lazy or money mad to take physical exercise.

There ought to be a compulsory payment of school-teacher's law passed too.

We have never liked that familiar advertisement, "Chicken dressed or undressed."—Aglerald.

How would it suit you to leave off the "dressed?"

The trouble with all the advice on what to eat to avoid indigestion and its attendant ills is that it won't work. Every stomach is a law unto itself. One man's food is another man's poison. The safest rule is to eat what you have found from experience agrees with you, and let alone what does not.

Courtesy Pays.

Like honesty, courtesy is the best policy—it pays. A woman recently went into a great store to buy a spring hat, relates the Indianapolis News. The sales girl that waited on her, doubtless in violation of the store rules, was so indifferent and discourteous that the woman took herself and her custom to another store where she was treated with courtesy. There was a clear loss in dollars and cents to the store that had the discourteous employee. Generally courtesy cannot be estimated in dollars and cents because in the long run it is incalculable. (Some times its cost is measured by courts in a judgment for damages, railroads affording the chief example because their employees come into contact with millions of people a year, the News goes on to say. Hence, the aggregate expense is great and that is why the roads are so insistent on courtesy. It costs something to stop a train after it has left a station, but it does not cost $5,000. One railroad recently had to pay that sum for refusing to stop and back to the station to let off a woman whom it had carried past. She urged the conductor after having told him where she wanted to get off to stop, but he refused. The woman was three hours late in arriving at her destination. The court gave her $5,000 for mental agony and because the road had not paid due attention to her rightful request.

In a large Eastern city recently a railroad employee drove a cabman off the company's grounds with much profanity. This cost the company $4,000, although unquestionably it was the cabman's ground on which the cabman had trespassed. A passenger on a New York train was told by the conductor that he was going beyond the station for which his ticket called. In the dispute that followed the conductor told the passenger that he was a fool, emphasized by a profane definition of the particular kind of fool he had in mind. The passenger paid the extra 15 cents under protest. The court made the railroad company pay $2,500 damages. In a western station a passenger waiting was cold, and asked for more fire. The agent refused to allow it although there was coal in the box, and in the course of the controversy resorted to the usual profane discourtesy. The courts awarded the passenger $750 damages for the discourtesy.

Justices innumerable could be recited. They all point to the fact that courtesy pays—courtesy in and for itself without touching the main point at issue.—Emporia (Kan.) Gazette.

How Long?

From Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A man has only one life to live. The one life he holds he usually does not desire to give away. Self preservation is nature's first law. And self preservation, the instinct which governs every form of life, applies primarily to personal safety. Patriotism is the instinct of self preservation applied to a mass of human beings. It is the result of gregarious life. The primitive instinct applies only to the individual, and the primitive instinct is still the strongest motive.

There may even be a patriotism compatible with self preservation. The volunteer who, swayed by enthusiasm, marches away to die is admirable, for he is so unselfish that he has, at least for the time being, subordinated the primal instinct. But the man who thinks that there is still usefulness in life, that he may work well not only for himself, but for his fellows, is also a patriot. His patriotism may even take the form of unyielding opposition to the murderous business of war.

Month after month, thousands and thousands of men, whose misfortune it is to be at the peak of manhood in the years 1914 and 1915, are being sent to ghastly death. Had they lived in their father's time they would have been permitted to enjoy their span of years to do their allotted work for the general good. Their children, too, will have the simple privileges of existence. It is merely a frightful mischance of birth that today deprives the men of Europe of their first natural right, the right to live.

How long will the men of Europe stand it? How long will they consent to be herded like sheep and driven forth to the butchery? It is a question well worth considering. Already it is being humbly asked in the streets of Rome in Europe. It is being asked in the humbler homes of Britain, where the nation's eye is for voluntary human sacrifices. The Malady of war; it is being asked in the humbler homes of Germany, where the conscriptions are compulsory. Some German socialists, who are brave men and patriots, are endeavoring to begin a general international movement to stop the unholy carnage.

"The Thinkers of the Country Are the Tobacco Chewers" said one of the greatest thinkers this country ever produced.

Says the Banker:

"The daily care of other people's money takes heavy toll from a man's nerves and brain. The banker who can find a tobacco that will lend kindness and calmness to his brain without exacting compound interest from his nerves, has found something to be thankful for."

PICNIC TWIST is just that sort of tobacco—full of mildness and natural sweetness that you can't find in heavy tobacco and without a heavy tobacco's "come back" on the nerves.

Only the mild mellow part of the leaf goes into the soft, convenient PICNIC TWISTS. Isn't that the sort of a chew you want?

FRIDAY APRIL 16th 1915.

A PROPHECY BEING RAPIDLY FULFILLED

Early last January we were receiving many inquiries as to our opinion regarding industrial and economic conditions, and we replied in a Special Bulletin, entitled, "The Real Estate Situation, January 16th, 1915." We quote from it as follows:

"The passing of December with a trade balance of nearly one hundred million dollars in favor of our country, practically completing the liquidation of our floating foreign indebtedness, was the turning of the tide. Our country is now well on the way to recovery. We do not mean to say we expect to see any pyrotechnical display with a boom, boom, boom, and things generally sky-rocketing, but we believe the big business men of our country are right when they say we have passed the crisis, that the trend is now upward, that trade is improving, confidence increasing, and that by fall an increase in values all around may be expected."

The above statement was made when the situation was still much clouded with uncertainty, but we felt sure our view would be sustained by subsequent developments which are now taking place to a remarkable extent.

On April 9th, the Associated Press reports from New York read as follows:

"STOCK BAROMETER SHOWS BIG BUSINESS AWAKENING"

"With transactions aggregating almost 1,200,000 shares and gains extending from 3 to 7 1/2 points in leading issues, today's stock market was the most exciting and noteworthy of any day since July 30th, last."

Close on the heels of this followed a statement by B. C. Forbes, one of the leading financiers of Wall Street. We quote from him as follows:

"The most impressive developments have been:
1. An almost nation-wide demand for stocks from investors of small or moderate means.

2. An astonishingly confident belief in high financial circles that the European war will collapse completely within three or four months.

3. Increasing faith among responsible business men that the political tide has definitely turned and that constructive legislation will hereafter be the rule.

4. A trade balance in America's favor of some $700,000,000 for the nine months ending this week."

The trend of almost everything is now upward, and the indications are that our forecast will be more than sustained.

"The time to buy property at less than its value is rapidly increasing. Already much property placed in our hands for sacrifice sale has been either sold or withdrawn. Many people have been waiting for years for just this opportunity, and now that it has come for a brief period, many will still wait, until the opportunity is gone."

The past nine months has been a golden opportunity for the buyer, but we emphasize more emphatically than before that the time is passing. Perhaps once, well located farms around Dothan will be in as much or more demand this fall than any other kind of property. We have in our hands at present two beautiful little farms we want to sell this week.

NUMBER 1.

42 acres 2 1/2 miles out on the graded Campbellton road. Five room house, barns, 22 acres in cultivation, largely stumped. The land is extra quality, above the average. 20 acres in woods with enough pine timber to almost pay for the place. A fine, never-failing stream runs through this, forming a perfect natural pasture. Very little underbrush but plenty of blackberry and whortleberry bushes. You must see this to appreciate it.

NUMBER 2.

25 acres, 1 1/2 miles out on graded road. Five room house, with fine shade trees in yard. Practically all in cultivation.

We do not name price on either place, as the price on each is a special one. Small amount paid now will close until last of year.

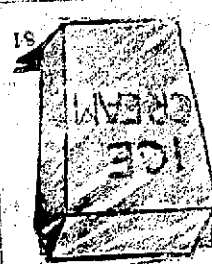

Let us show you these places today. We unqualifiedly recommend them.

GOSSIP

Age-Herald

Here is a little tragedy which proves two things—that wealth does not insure happiness and that gossip is as insidious as a serpent.

In a Missouri village noted for its religious zeal, a widow reputed to be worth $150,000 committed suicide a few days ago. She left a note saying:

"My neighbors have talked about me. I am unhappy and I don't wish to live longer. A good name is to be chosen above great riches. I have always tried to live an honorable life but my neighbors have blasted my good name."

A coroner's investigation developed the fact that the widow had been the subject of an underground of uncomplimentary gossip. But nowhere did it appear any tangible record of wrongs upon her part. Crystallized into a fatal fact, it appears that the dead woman's worst crime consisted in receiving letters, at the village postoffice twice a week, and these letters were always addressed in the same handwriting and this handwriting was evidently that of a man. Added to this she was known to have made periodic trips away from the village, visiting in a nearby city a week or two at a time. These incidents formed the basis of speculative gossip.

It subsequently developed that the letters received by the widow were from a respectable business man whom she was engaged to marry and her visits to the city meant that she had gone to see a sister of her deceased husband.

Nothing so very wrong about either of these things as here. Yet the gossipers conspired in the sensitive woman brood. Even this gossip until her mind and heart came to the breaking point. Then she ended it all with a dose of poison.

When these gossiping neighbors looked upon the pallid upturned face of the corpse, some of them exclaimed:

"Oh what a pity. Others wondered why one so amply blessed in a financial way should fail to find worldly happiness. Still others merely remarked: How natural she looks and passed on without looking back."

But they all attended the funeral and listened intently to the village parson's explanation of the woman's death. It is not of record, however, if the parson cited his charges that were found in Proverbs 1 as follows:

"The words of a talkative man are wounds, and he that is a fool will be his own undoing."

But I say unto you that every idle word that man shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgment.

In that day of judgment whose place would you prefer? Stand in that of the woman, that of the gossipers who by their malicious tongues brought her to death?

70 YEAR OLD MAN DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID

Thomasville, Ga. April 14.—Although he had reached the advanced age of 70 years and was seemingly in good health and prosperous circumstances, John McCowen, living on the line of Mitchell and Grady counties, committed suicide a few days ago by drinking carbohc acid.

McCowen is reported to have bought the poison in Pelham Saturday afternoon and carried it to his home, stating that he wanted it to use on his legs. No cause is known for the rash act. McCowen left a large family, one of sons being treasurer of Grady county.

LETTER FROM A PROHIBITIONIST

(New Orleans Item)

We print elsewhere a letter from a prohibitionist who discusses advertising of various sorts. We do not discuss the merits and demerits of prohibition frequently, except in so far as these are parts of the day's news, because this question like religious, is one on which the disputants are so far apart and their field for debate so wide that desultory discussion, while making an enormous tax on space, leads to no commensurate results in changes of conviction either way.

The item in dropping most potent medicine advertising from its columns was in no sense trying to conserve the morals, or improve the habits, or even the health of its readers. It merely sought to protect them against fraud and deception and it yielded a considerable advertising for general merchandise in the same way. It also accepts medicine advertising, both at a goods is honest.

Liquor advertising stands on a different basis. This merchandise advertised for exactly what it is. The reader knows exactly what the arguments against the sale of liquor are, and what he is invited to buy, so far as its essential nature is concerned, and he knows, as he glances at the advertisement of this sort in the case of a fraudulently advertised potent medicine, and he is deceived when he spends his money for it in the expectation that it will be the narcotic it claims.

Readers of The Item know that I favor local option and do not favor prohibition for Louisiana. My reasons for this attitude have been frequently stated and we can do nothing to gain by repeating them.

We believe that in effect local option prohibition would place us in a worse position than any other possible solution without measure. It would limit our consumption of the upland crops. It seems to me evident to me that prohibition is an impossibility and a failure in any community in which a considerable majority does not desire to enforce it.

The item has insisted upon its endeavors therefore to give the brewers and the liquor trade generally to show exactly how they manifestly of the retail business in this city and through out the state both in number and in method to the end that if reasonable excuse be removed for each of their activities, that would bring us into confusion and confusion without an end of spending money in social gain. The truth would be wise to take our advice in the present and we think.

A Great Fight Against Chinich Bugs

Earned and Farside says: To France against chinich bugs 1500 miles of barriers were laid down to protect cornfields last year. This cost $40,000 in labor. In a large field of the protected fields was 2 1/2 bushels to the acre and it is estimated that the barriers added to the yield of corn the value of $714,710. This sort of work has to be done by co-operation.

SOAP IS BAD FOR THE HAIR

Soap should be used very sparingly. If at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and runs it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mildified coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), is cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust dirt dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mildified coconut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

TOO FAR APART

(Washington Star)

"Steadern Ah kain't preach hyah and board in heb n."

MRS. ROOSEVELT

OPERATED UPON

New York April 13.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and seven other patients at the Roosevelt Hospital today. The operation was performed shortly after 9 o'clock this morning by Dr. Howard C. Taylor.

It was announced that the operation had been successful and that she would soon be on the road to recovery. Young Roosevelt and Theodore Roosevelt Jr. arrived shortly before the time for the operation. Young Roosevelt left shortly after it was announced that the operation had been a success and Colonel Roosevelt said he would stay for a time.

PUT SULPHUR ON AN ITCHING SKIN AND END ECZEMA

Says this old time Eczema remedy is applied like cold cream.

Any irritation or breaking out on the face, arms, legs or body when exposed to itching or when the skin is dry and flaking can be relieved by applying a little of this sulphur cream to the affected part.

It states that balding hair instantly allows the pores to open and the scalp to breathe and the hair to grow again. It is the only remedy for itching the skin clear and healthy. Bell sulphur has occupied a position for many years in the treatment of cutaneous disorders because of its powerful drying property, cutting out the irritating and inflammatory skin conditions. With not a word establishing a permanent cure, it never fails to subdue the itching and to drive the eczema away and it is often cured by the skin again appearing on the skin.

Those troubled should obtain any drug store or one of our dealers, which is applied to the affected parts in the same manner as an ordinary cold cream.

The Belgian Girl.

Once her face was pink and white
Once her heart was joyful and light
Once her eyes were sparkling and bright
Once her garments were silk and lace
Once her feet were emblems of grace
Once her hands, like a china vase,
Now hunger has set its pangs
upon the face of ashen hue,
Now the rosy cheeks and dimples are hid from view.
Now no stars twinkle in the eyes
no ad.
Now the weary form in rags is clad.
Now the little feet are painful and bare.
Now the dainty hands are hardened by care—
Like the dying of flowers in autumn's glade.
Is the change in the happiness of a Belgian maid.

St. Cecilia Club

The meeting of the St. Cecilia Club on Thursday afternoon with Miss Evelyn Farmer was entirely a business one.

Instead of having Reciprocity day on April 22, it was asked that the St. Cecilia club give a musical on the evening of May 4th, at which time the District Convention of the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs will be in session in Dothan. This will be held at the home of Mrs. Saxon Poyner on West Main street.

Mrs. Poyner was elected as delegate to the convention.

A nominating committee was appointed, Mrs. D. C. Carnichael chairman, Mrs. Dorey Poyner and Mrs. T. M. Barnett.

Crown and cake was served at the close of the meeting.

UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENTS—Hints For Hostesses.

From Commercial-Appel.

Two April Showers.

Did you ever hear of a "Trouble Shower"? Well, if not, try one on the next bride-elect you wish to honor. On the invitation notes pin down one corner with a needle and the other corner with a pin, lettering the following nursery rhyme prophecy across the top:

"Needles and pins! When a maid marries her trouble begins!" The idea to be carried on is this: The hostess provides a quinty work basket, or bag, as she may prefer, and the guests supply the contents to fit it out completely. If the favorite color of the bride is known it is a pretty compliment to carry out that scheme throughout. The shower I heard about had all in yellow—dresses with yellow satin, and the The basket was a gilded one, lined with yellow satin and the needle case of pig skin. There was a tape measure, thimbles, needle, ribbon threaders, pin cushions, spoons of thread and silk, foot and safety pins, cushion, pins and cases of needles. To make more fun, these articles were done up separately in white paper tied with yellow ribbon and hidden all over the living room.

The little bride-to-be had a fine gathering all her possessions into her basket. The hostess knew just how many parcels there were and they all had to be found before "tea" could be served.

A Shrub Shower.

A young woman who, was an April bride declined all proffers of showers before she was married, so several of her friends decided to go out in the country, where the new home was and each take a shrub, plant or perennial for the yard. So they said nothing of the shower. There were 12 in all and the little bride was excited "to death" as she expressed it over the mysterious packages, many of them bulky displaying their contents. Husband's working gloves, spade and hoe were forthcoming and each gift named and planted with due ceremony; the hostess said she could just imagine how she would enjoy cutting "Marcy Ellen's roses," snipping "Sue's honeysuckle," etc.

There was a purple wistaria, climbing and three honeysuckles, purple and white clematis, hardy hydrangeas, hollyhocks and spirea, not forgetting Persian lilacs.

This affair reminds me that it is now quite a fad to start "friend ship" gardens; one I know of contains plants and growing things from many famous personages. This shrub shower seems adaptable not only to brides, but to friends who move to the country, or for those who may have only a small garden plot. A sort of savory herbs may be grown in window boxes; pen and bean vines are hardy climbers and quite a number of vegetables are satisfied with window box culture.

JAPANESE DENY THEY HAVE BASE ON TURTLE BAY

Washington, April 15.—An official statement authorized by the Japanese embassy today characterized as "preposterous" reports that a naval base had been established at Turtle Bay, Lower California, Mexico, and declared there never has been any intention on the part of the Japanese government to locate a naval base or occupy any territory on the west coast of Mexico.

Operations of Japanese warships in Turtle Bay, embassy of Japan, said, were solely for salvaging the stranded cruiser Asagiri. It was stated that while detailed reports from the scene had not been received, as the chief of general at San Francisco was handling the matter, landing on the shore of the bay probably had been found necessary in connection with the salvage work.

KICK KOLUMN

Are you a kicker? Have you a pet grunch? Is there something about "This YERE" ding bust-ed old town that has been worry-ing you worse than a wart on your nose? Is there anything you would like to have stopped or improved upon? If there is, this column is yours to give publicity to your views. Let your kinks be good natured ones, and let not your pent up ire arouse you to abusive or insulting verbiage. Rather let this column be a concerted movement to better things. Address all communications to the editor of the "Kick Kolumn" Eagle Office.

Editor Kick Kolumn:

Thanks for the opportunity of a big kick against one of the worst nuisances I have ever witnessed in any town, namely the way the side walks are all chalked up with all kinds of advertising matter. When I was a child my teacher ripped me on the knuckles one day for writing on buildings with a piece of chalk, and thereafter I was always glad to confine my artistic proclivities to the proper place. We have a very pretty little town and we are justly proud of it. Why mark it all up in such a hideous manner? Would you mind telling us through your column if there is any city ordinance against this nuisance?

Yours truly,
Judig Nation.

Dear Gullig:
Chief of police advises that there is a city ordinance against defacing sidewalks.
